Letter of recommendation

We would like to expressly recommend the organization ACELPA (Asociación Civil El Puente de la Amistad), with whom we were able to implement a project to protect the Amazon rainforest in Peru in close and very trusting cooperation.

ACELPA works in a grassroots democratic and community-oriented manner - values that are tangibly reflected in every step of the collaboration. The organization is committed to the long-term preservation of the Amazon region and the people who live there with great expertise, cultural sensitivity and a consistent focus on social justice and ecological sustainability.

We were particularly impressed:

- The close cooperation with local and indigenous communities on an equal footing
- The participatory approach that actively involves local voices in decision-making processes
- The combination of environmental education, political engagement and concrete conservation measures
- The clear, reliable communication and transparent project management

Thanks to the joint commitment, important areas of endangered habitats were protected and people were trained in sustainable biodynamic farming at the same time. ACELPA impressed us with its professional work.

We would like to thank ACELPA for the inspiring collaboration and recommend the organization without reservation as a competent, responsible and committed partner in environmental and climate protection.
